Flora and Fauna

From the Pyrenees to the sea

DAY 1
 Arrival and accommodation at a cottage. Homemade dinner with local products. The meals are based on Catalan traditional gastronomy. Lunch will be at local restaurants or ecological packed lunches on activity days.

DAY 2
 We'll walk around la Garrotxa Volcànic Zone Natural Park. There are forty volcanic cones and more than 20 basaltic lava flows. Not only volcanoes and lava flows, but we'll enjoy the extraordinary biodiversity of a small territory that hides unique fauna and flora species: two-tailed pasha butterflies, stag beetles, autochthonous crayfish, white-throated dippers, forest birds, pedunculate oak, orchids, among many more species.

DAY 3
 Transfer to Quersals village to get the 'rack and pinion' railway (the only one in the Pyrenees) that will take us to Naria valley, at 2.000m altitude. Walk at The Headwaters of the and Pixer Natural Park, between 1.280 and 3.000m altitude. This will be a perfect day to enjoy alpine flora and fauna: Mountain Pines, rhododendrons, gentians, arisaça, Apollo butterflies, chamlets, marmots, vultures, lammergeiers, are just a few of what we can find.

DAY 4
 The characteristics of Puigscalm and Bellmunt mountains Natural

One of the most enriching experiences you can have is to discover the natural heritage of a region with an expert guide. Orchids, rare plants, birds, amphibians, butterflies, dragonflies, moths of animals, volcanoes, lava flows and some unique geological phenomenon are some examples of what we'll see during five intensive days of real wild nature. Our itinerary will take us to visit 6 Natural Parks from the Pyrenees to the Mediterranean sea.

Conservation Area is that it's a natural environment in the middle of the mountain with humid climate of Atlantic influences. These attributes result in luxuriant vegetation and amazing landscapes. There are a mosaic of meadows and deciduous forest that lend us the opportunity to see many species of orchids, butterflies and different kind of birds.

DAY 5
 Transfer to Cap de Creus Natural Park. A place where the sea and the rocks meet, making a unique landscape home to special flora and fauna: cork oaks, cistus, Tree Spurge, blue broom, Hermann's screebaw, Audouin's gulls, Bonelli's eagles, beebee, endemic mollusks, ... Later on we'll go to Aiguamolls de l'Empordà Natural Park: one of the most important wetlands of Catalonia, a site characterized by today's fluvial courses and old rivers' mouth. We'll stop to watch the big ornithological diversity of wetlands: white storks, great crested grebes, shorebirds, little egrets, purple swamphens, etc.

DAY 6
 Walk in the Bac valley, in the Alta Garrotxa Natural Interest Area. It's a territory of remarkable extension and unique biodiversity. The etymology of the word 'garrotxa' describes this region perfectly: rough and broken ground. It's a rugged landscape with many cliffs and narrow valleys, the ideal place to watch birds of prey and different species of limestone flora. It's easy to see the Egyptian vulture, lammergeier, griffon vulture, yew, polygala vayredae, diafolids, bees and orchids, among others.
